

Tracker Corp Introduces Instantly-Customizable Reports in ImmigrationTracker Case Management Software

SAN FRANCISCO, CA – February 28, 2011 Tracker Corp, <http://trackercorp.com>, innovative developer of immigration management and I-9 compliance software, announced a new feature in its ImmigrationTracker software that allows users to intuitively customize their reports by clicking to select options or dragging and dropping desired fields to create the case management reports they need.

Tracker's new Report Designer feature lets immigration law professionals or corporate HR staff view, customize, print and export reports with just a few clicks—even accessing the program over its secure Web portal. On-screen instruction wizards guide users through the process of creating or modifying reports. Just by dragging and dropping, users can easily select from a list of applicable data fields and even reposition the location of field and columns to place them where they want. Custom reports can then be saved to run again at future times.

"ImmigrationTracker's flexible reporting capabilities provide firms with the ability to perfectly match their current workflows and preferences," said Brett Weiss, Tracker Corp CEO. "Our intuitive interface makes the process so easy, it saves people time not just in customization but in daily usability by showing just the information they need, just the way they want it."
